In one of the largest and most proficient certificate and diploma classes of the historic College of Music of Cincinnati, a talented young man of Maysville, will receive his musical degree. As the standards of the Cincinnati College are higher than any of the American conservatories, the tribute paid to the scholarship of this student becomes a matter of much consequence in the professional and educational world. S. L. Hockenberry receives a certificate as teacher of public school music. The institution announces September 4th at the opening of the thirty-fifth academic year.

DR. REYNOLDS

Delivers Splendid Sermon to the 1912 Class of the Maysville
High School

Commencement Week Ushered in Under Magnificent Auspices

Dr. Charles Lee Reynolds of Lexington delivered the class address to the Maysville High School graduates last night at the First Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Reynolds took his text from the answer God gave to Moses when he was pleading his inability to lead the people out of Egypt: "What is in Thy Hand?" and he said, a rod. The speaker, in congratulating the class upon the possession of a High School education, compared it to the rod of Moses. But, said he, "it is not to be simply a sign of privilege; it is for service."

In urging this familiar thought Dr. Reynolds developed the Greek ideal of truth and the Hebrew ideal of righteousness as the end of all their culture; "but," said he, "there is a greater; it is the Anglo-Saxon ideal of service. Everywhere and at all times now-a-days men and women are tried by their usefulness to the community. On every hand are the avenues and means of service and you will have gotten an education in vain if you do not put it to service for your fellow men."

The Faculty and students sat in the pews in front of the pulpit. The class is one of the finest ever graduated by the school and the members seemed deeply impressed by the eloquent and earnest words of Dr. Reynolds. The music furnished by the school choir was very fine and the congregation heartily the hymns, sustained by the great organ of the Church.

Mrs. J. M. Stone, sister of Mr. Thomas L. Ewan, met with a painful accident at her home here on Thursday. She was out in the yard, and not observing it, ran into a taut clothes line, scratching her eye. While the wound is painful, yet her attending physician stated that she would soon recover its use without any ill effects of her unfortunate mishap.

"Children's Day"

The "Children's Day" program yesterday at the First Presbyterian Church was one of the most interesting, enjoyable and well-attended of any event ever given in this historic structure, and the exercises were of especial merit and interest. The collection amounted to over $40.

At the Second M. E. Church, South, in East Second street the "Children's Day" exercises drew such a crowd that the Church could not hold the people and its success in every feature was marked and enjoyable.

FOR PRESIDENT,
- WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.

A course in good will is to be added to the school curriculum is the plan formulated by the United States Bureau of Education for adoption in the elementary grades throughout the country and contained in a pamphlet just issued.

Decrease of $115,500,000 in corporate earnings in the United States during 1911, according to statements made by Internal Revenue Commissioner Cabell. The 1 per cent assessment on the 1911 earnings of corporations it is expected will turn into the Federal Treasury about $28,278,000, most of which will be paid next month, against $29,432,000 last year. There was an increase of 17,660 in the number of corporations.

In some remarks on the parcels Post scheme in the United States Senate, recently, Senator Bailey of Texas made this fair hit: "Mr. President, I think more than half of the people of this country are in favor of doing anything at this time that will extend the activities of the Government. I hardly think it is necessary now for a special interest to move them. In this age of 'uplift' and distrust of each others breeding, I must believe, at last a distrust of ourselves people lean on the Government. The Senator (Heyburn of Idaho) and the rest of us who oppose that tendency, however, instead of objecting to the arguments in favor of it ought to occupy ourselves with making arguments against it."

"For want of a nail, a shoe was lost;
For want of a shoe, a horse was lost;
For want of a horse, a man was lost;

For want of a man a kingdom was lost."

The Little Things.

The "eye of the ship," the man up in the "crow's nest" of the Titanic, had declared that he was not furnished with a marine glass after he left Southampton. Had he had it he could have seen the iceberg, which sunk the liner, much sooner; she could have sheered enough to port to have missed hitting it, and the ship and the lives would not have been lost.

It is the little things of life that count. "Life is one damn thing after another," says one of the profane sage brush philosophers with whose aphorisms we delight to plaster our office walls. And he has not missed the mark a thousandth of an inch.

Life is a complex thing—the very course of the earth might be changed if it struck a pebble. The Titanic tragedy is but another exemplification that the little things are the things to watch; the big ones will take care of themselves.

We are prone to attribute great actions to great things; it is a mistake, they hinge upon the little things. Had not the geese squawked Rome would not have been saved. The thirty year's war that convulsed Europe grew out of the color of plush on a chair. Had not Albert Sidney Johnson fallen at Shiloh in the hour of victory; had not Stonewall Jackson been shot down by his own men, who can read the future? Had not—yes, had not a thousand and one little things happened at any time, who can tell what might have happened?

For want of a glass, the ship was lost!—Commercial Tribune.

Henry Watterson says the Beckham-Haley-Mayo "Millionaire Club" is in the saddle while Desha Breckinridge says the Cantrill-Stevenson-Watterson "Whiskey Trust" has been defeated. Now isn't Miss Democracy in a hell of a fix?—Mt. Sterling Gazette.

No bank is ever in a position to pay all its depositors cash in full on demand. But every sound bank in a good banking system has its resources in such form that it can obtain cash on short notice to meet the most extraordinary demands of its depositors. If a sound bank cannot always obtain cash on short notice, then there is something radically wrong with the system of which it is a part. In 1907 many sound banks could not meet their depositors demands for cash. In no other great commercial nation is such a thing possible. Our banking system will be woefully weak until we have made it impossible for sound banks to be without the means of paying cash in time of financial alarm.

Colonel Roosevelt, we take it, is not "feeling like a bull moose" over the news from Ohio.

Mr. Taft's victory at the State convention Not Feeling Like a Bull Moose Now.

Wherever there is a representative decision by a deliberative, organized party assembly, Taft wins. Roosevelt bluster, cash and cowpunching take with the crowd at the soap-box primary, where the quiet, intelligent vote that does things on election day is conspicuous by its absence.

The victory at Columbus adds materially to Mr. Taft's strength—not so much numerically as in prestige.

It will help the Taft forces in the national committee and convention to stand firm against the manifest purpose to intimidate and stamper them by a man who, declaiming against "bosses," is himself attempting the biggest job in bossism ever undertaken in this country.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Foolish Philosophy.

I sometimes think stepchildren exaggerate their wrongs as much as the people exaggerate theirs.

If you want to feel the morning ginger avoid the highball night cap.

The loafer cuts a big figure in politics, where he "gets even" for many affronts offered him in business and society.

The next thing you hear about a man who has become famous is that he wants a divorce.

If a thing isn't in you no amount of effort can get it out.

Beware of a boomer; money lost in a bursted boom is as effectually lost as though it were lost in a train robbery.

An optimist is a man who wants credit for telling white lies.

No man ever accomplished as much as he expected, and you can't.

It's a pity that other questions can't be settled as effectually as supremacy in baseball is settled; practically no one disputes that Philadelphia had the best club last year. But the people quarrel about everything else.—Ed Howe.

Washington Star.
"What we want," said the eloquent lady, "is higher and more refined ideals."
"Of course," replied Farmer Cornstossel, wearily, "it's a shame the way us rough men get out and bustle for corn and potatoes when we might be slippin' geraniums and trainin' crimson rambles."

OIL AND GAS

Ohio Valley Co. Extending Leases—Fine Prospects Ahead

Augusta Chronicle.
John Brown of Brooksville, President of the Brooksville Oil and Gas Company, and E. S. Parrie of Dover, connected with the same enterprise, were here Tuesday shipping some of the well machinery to Parkersburg, W. Va., for repairs.

The above named gentleman informs us that gas was struck at a depth of 900 feet in the Brooksville well, and that they are down 1,150 feet and that the gas flow gets stronger as they sink in depth.

Mr. Brown, who is an experienced oil and gas well digger, says that every indication points to the Brooksville well being a big one, and that if it comes up to his expectations that it will furnish gas for commercial purposes to the surrounding towns, and that the company expects to run a pipe line to connect the towns in this vicinity if they are successful.

The company has leased a large percentage of the land between Augusta and Maysville for boring for both oil and gas and they expect to begin boring in the immediate vicinity of Augusta within the next few months. Our people sincerely hope that their quest may prove successful.

received at the headquarters of the chautauques in Chicago, Cedar Rapids, Kansas City, Mo., indicate that this is far the biggest Chautauqua season recorded in the United States. Interest of the people is phenomenal. places the local auspices had disallowed their tickets before any advertisement had been done. In some places where colleges are located the directors offered free for the use of the chautauqua the college campus, claiming that the chautauqua was an educational movement which rightly supplements the work of the university.

In numerous places the Boards of Trade or Chambers of Commerce have stood back of the movement. The support of the business men, which shows their confidence in the chautauqua as a sound and permanent institution, has been the most favorable sign of the year.

EX-GOVERNOR E. W. HOCH.

HON. E. W. HOCH, one of the speakers at the Chautauqua this season, was twice elected governor of Kansas and is today one of the most popular men in the state. While governor he accomplished many notable things. Among the things which he championed and which crystallized into law during his administration were an anti-pass law, a drastic pure food law, a state wide primary election law, two cent railroad fare, a depository law for state funds, yielding nearly $2,000 per month to the state; an entire change of management in state institutions, putting them on a civil service business basis and resulting in wonderful increase in their efficiency. Oil legislation was enacted which made possible in three years the establishment of nineteen successful independent oil refineries and an annual saving of $1,000,000 to the consumers of coal oil alone in Kansas.

TERM OF OFFICE

Under Kentucky Law Construed By the Court of Appeals

A term of office for a public official within the meaning of the law is the number of years for which he is elected, and should a public official elected to an office for a specified number of years vacate the office in any way his successor, either by appointment or election, merely fills out the term of office for which his predecessor had been elected. Holding this law to be effective in Kentucky, the Appellate Court reversed the judgment of the Franklin Circuit Court in the case of H. M. Bosworth against George M. Ellison of Whitley county.

WELL DESERVED

THE PRAISE THAT COMES FROM THANKFUL MAYSVILLE PEOPLE

One kidney remedy has known merit. Maysville people rely upon it.

That remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills. Maysville testimony proves it reliable.

Frederick Drossel, 1238 East Second street, Maysville, Ky., says: "Since I used Doan's Kidney Pills in 1908, I have not had kidney trouble. All that I said at that time praising this remedy still holds good. I was troubled with inflammation of the bladder and annoyance from my kidneys. The passages of the kidney secretions were irregular and I had a severe pain across the small of my back which interfered with my duties. When a friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills I got a box at the Wood & Son's Drug Store. They gave me prompt relief and I know that they are an excellent remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Twelve Years Added to Human Life Christian Herald.

The astounding and gratifying fact is claimed that in the last half century an average of twelve years has been added to the period of human life.

Since the first actual records were taken in New York City in the middle sixties the rate of mortality has been reduced from 35 deaths in each 1000 inhabitants to about 15 or 16. This reduction has resulted from the control of infectious diseases. The savings thus made relates only to the period of life under 50 years. There is no saving knowledge regarding diseases of advancing years, which afflicts especially those who have been active in affairs, and who are taxed with large responsibilities.

Historic Blackguards

By Albert Payson Terhune

Genghis Khan, the Scourge of the East

SLANT-EYED, high-check-boned Tartar boy—born on the banks of the Mongolian River Onon in 1162—formed a modest plan of conquering the world. He had a small GENGHIS KHAN enough start for such a venture. For his father was only a petty Tartar chief, ruling a mere handful of families. But the boy had boundless ambition, was a natural ruler of men, was held back by no qualms of conscience—for he seems to have been quite conscienceless—and had a natural cruelty of nature that overrode all obstacles. These customs and the leadership of his own little tribe were the sole backing he had for his mighty enterprise.

The lad was known as Temudjin ("the Wise"). He was thirteen when his father died. He found himself at the head of a rebellious clan that wanted to depose him for an older, wiser chief. Temudjin thrashed his foes, then thrashed and annexed neighboring tribes. He soon was ruler of a strong federation. A still stronger collection of tribes opposed him. He made friends with the Great Khan of the Keraites Tartars, by whose aid he beat his own enemies. He then married the Great Khan's daughter.

Trouble soon sprang up between Temudjin and his father-in-law. The young man defeated and slew the Great Khan, who had been his benefactor, and then made himself master of the whole region. His next step was to hunt up a Shaman (prophet of wisdom), who, by working on the Tartars' superstitions, made them regard Temudjin as a sort of god. The Shaman also prophesied that Temudjin would conquer the entire world.

The Tartar chief now abandoned his early name of Temudjin and took the title "Genghis Khan" (meaning "Greatest Chief"). He made a code of wise laws for his followers and changed their race name to "Mongol" ("Brave"). Then he set out on his task of world conquest.

First annexing all Tartary, he marched on China, crossed the Chinese Wall and advanced into the heart of the country. It was during this expedition that he first let loose to the full his love of barbarous cruelty and won the dread nickname "The Scourge of the East." He plundered and utterly destroyed ninety-six cities, besides a countless number of towns and villages. The inhabitants were put to death—men and women alike—with unspeakable tortures.

On a second campaign in China Genghis Kahn in 1215 captured Peking and burned it to the ground after stealing everything that could be carried away. Thence he invaded Persia. The city of Bokhara was known as "the center of science." It held wondrous inventions and the Orient's rarest treasures of art and literature. Genghis Khan cared no more for such things or for the world's real progress than a mad dog cares for the rose hedge he breaks through. Bokhara, with its wondrous objects of art and learning, was destroyed. The entire country was devastated, and with the fall of its cities their priceless treasures of Oriental science went up in smoke. Millions of people were slain or carried into slavery.

Iran, Astrakhan and Southern Russia next fell prey to the merciless Khan. Practically all of China was enslaved. So were Corea and the countries northwest of India.

The Turks were driven out of their Asian fastnesses and chased across into Europe. (It was then that the Turks first settled in Eastern Europe, where later they were to wreak havoc on Christian nations.)

Wider and wider spread the conquests of Genghis Khan. At the capture of Herat alone he is said to have massacred 1,600,000 people. No mortal power could check his advance. The prophecy seemed about to come true. The more so when he won the mighty kingdom of Tangut by annihilating an army 80,000 strong in a fierce battle waged on the ice of a frozen lake.

Genghis Khan was now master of all the territory from the China Sea to the River Dnieper. He set forth on a fresh tour of slaughter in the summer of 1227. But astronomers told him that the stars at that time spelt disaster for him. So the superstitious Khan turned back in haste, to wait until the planets should promise him better luck. On the way homeward he fell ill and died.

Even in death his cruelties did not cease. The armed escort of his funeral procession slaughtered every one whom they met along the route to the place of burial, and nearly a thousand beautiful girls were slain, as a sacrifice, on the tomb.

Thus perished Genghis Khan—genius, born ruler and—wholesale blackguard.

Maysville Wallops Nicholasville in Fine Style—Score 28 to 8

Nicholasville had a most inauspicious opening game and an entrance into the Bluegrass League Saturday afternoon, and lost a one-sided contest to Maysville by a score of 28 to 8. Local fans were enthusiastic over the transfer of the Winchester franchise, and a good sized crowd was on hand to welcome the Hustlers to new home. The overwhelming defeat in their first game will not lessen the interest of the fans, it is said, and an effort will be made to build up the team into a pennant contender.

The score:
Maysville.....5 2 0 7 1 4 5 0—28
Nicholasville.....0 0 1 5 2 0 0 0—8

Two-base hits—Clever, Williams, Reed, Woods. Three-base hits—Snyder, Stadfeld, Lake. First on Bases—Off Friedley 1. Stolen Bases—Stadfeld, Snyder, Sanford, Burden. Struck Out—By Woods 3, by Grover 3. MAYSVILLE WON SUNDAY 9 TO 4

At Lexington in Sunday's game our boys were the victors by the score of 9 to 4. Camnitz was weak and Maysville swatted him good and hard in the first and third innings scoring 7 runs.

Seven of Maysville's fourteen hits came in three two innings and three of them were long drives. Wellman was "going good" and he had Lexington on his string. He fanned eleven of them and allowed only five hits, which coupled with the errors behind him, netted four runs.

The score:
